a At the highest level recorded.

b A conflict is coded as new the first time it appears in the 1946-2007 list of armed conflicts. Thus, even though this table covers the 1989-2007 period, this variable refers to the longer conflict period. A conflict is registered as new only once, regardless of changes on the opposition side.

b In an internationalised intrastate armed conflict, the government, the opposition or both sides recieve military troops support from other governments.
References

This is a list of the material and sources used when investigating the conflicts prior to 1989 that involved more than one active dyad.

General sources & reports

The general sources were used for coding in most of the conflicts listed. Specific keywords were often used in searching online databases (such as Keesing’s and Factiva) and some were used as reference literature (Clodfelter for instance).
