SEPTEMBER 2021

15 September, 10:15–12:00

Research seminar in cultural anthropology: Book talk: Egypt's Football Revolution: Emotion, Masculinity, and Uneasy Politics

Both a symbol of the Mubarak government's power and a component in its construction of national identity, football served as fertile ground for Egyptians to confront the regime's overthrow during the 2011 revolution.

Carl Rommel is a social anthropologist. His doctoral research explored the emotional politics of Egyptian football before and after the January 2011 Revolution.

22 September, 10:15–12:00

Research seminar in Ethnology (in swedish): The ethnologist and the image of man as a cultural being, Carina Johansson

"I hope to start a discussion about how we Ethnologists use images in our research, both as part of our material, as well as in presentations, reports and dissertations. It is something that could be developed, or at least we need to reflect much more on image in relation to text, because now images are somewhat forgotten and disadvantaged."

29 September, 10:15–12:00

Research seminar in cultural anthropology: Auto Insurrection: Automotion, Pessoptimism and the Ends of Forensics with Peter Lagerqvist

Amidst an upsurge of violence in the occupied West Bank in 2015-2016, reports of Israelis being struck by cars driven by Palestinians began appearing in the Israeli media. The "Auto-Intifada," as it was dubbed by some outlets, prompted the 'preemptive' detention of some 700 hundred Palestinians deemed immanent threats by the Israeli intelligence services, mainly on the basis of social media posts.

OCTOBER 2021

6 October, 10:15–12:00

Reading seminar in Ethnology on the theme of narrative and sustainability (in Swedish)

This time we will read and discuss a text on the theme of narrative and sustainability together with Emily Höckert's chapter "On scientific fabulation: storytelling in the more-than-human world".

13 October, 10:15–12:00

Research seminar in cultural anthropology: Figures of the Strait: trade and circulation at a maritime crossroads with Hege Høyer Leivestad

The Strait of Gibraltar – where only 14 kilometres separate Europe from Africa at the narrowest point- is a seascape shaped by the conjunction of maritime routes. In an area of intensive trade and geopolitical tension, the Strait is a symbolic crossroads that tells a long history of circulation through contested space.

20 October, 10:15–12:00

Research seminar in Ethnology with Anders Haggström. The Ojnare forest – a study of sustainability policy (in Swedish)

In Swedish

Varmt välkomna till höstens tredje forskarseminarium i etnologi.

Denna gång ska vi läsa och diskutera en text av Anders Haggström kring hans forskning om Ojnarekonflikten. Kontakta Camilla Asplund Ingemark för tillgång till text, kontaktlänk se ovanför.

28 October, 10:15–12:00

Research seminar in cultural anthropology: The liberalization of Jordanian political culture: The new Maan with Arvid Lundberg

The Arab Spring showed that democratization in the Arab world seldom follows from an uprising against an authoritarian regime. Rather, democratization depends on slower changes. But what kind of changes?

NOVEMBER 2021

3 November, 10:15–12:00

CANCELED - Research seminar in Ethnology with Jenny Ingridsson

10 November, 10:15–12:00

Research seminar in Cultural Anthropology med Mahmoud Keshavarz: Fictional Materialities of a Border

The politics of design is in focus of this seminar.

The visual, technological, temporal, and spatial apparatus of the border with all materialisations involved produces and maintains one hegemonic fiction: the given relation between the nation, the body, and its right to mobility.

17 November, 10:15–12:00

Research Seminar in Ethnology with Anne Eriksen

Anne will present a text she originally wrote as a post at a workshop on narrative and sustainability on Campus Gotland. In it, she discusses the cultural heritage concept's built-in narrative structures and intrigues, and how these change depending on what cultural heritage is related to. She now wants views on how the argument works and how she can develop the text into an article.
